Salary and Wage Charges On Sponsored Project Proposals # 2320.080a

INITIAL EFFECTIVE DATE:	LAST REVISION DATE:	RESPONSIBLE UNIVERSITY DIVISION/DEPARTMENT
February 11, 2004	March 29, 2021	Office of Research and Economic Development

PROCEDURE STATEMENT

Individuals who are to receive full benefits must be listed in the “Faculty / Administrative / Staff Salary” section of the proposal budget; all others must be listed in the “Other Personnel” section of the budget.

For multiple year budgets, the first year’s salaries and wages should reflect the current compensation level of employees. For future budget years, it is appropriate to build salary increases into the budget so long as those increases are an appropriate approximation of the employee’s salary or wages increases for future years. Thus, an increase of 3% per year for salary or wage increases may be appropriate when permitted by the sponsor. At no time, however, may a federal sponsor be charged more for an employee’s salary or wages than the employee’s actual salary or wages incurred while working on the sponsor project.

No faculty or staff member may be reimbursed for more than 100% effort in any given time period, without a special justification and permission as provided in the Extra State Compensation policy.

Some federal sponsors, such as the National Institutes of Health place a cap on the rate of salary or the rate for consultant payments that may be charged to a project. The PI must ensure that the salary/fees requested and paid on the project do not exceed these limitations. See the ORED web page or contact your ORED representative for these salary/fee limits.

All sponsored project proposal budgets must include the full fringe benefit rate applicable to each FIU employee on the budget. If the sponsor refuses to fund any fringe benefit costs, the PI's College or Department will be responsible for providing a funding source to the Office of Research and Economic Development for payment of the fringe benefits costs not paid for by the sponsor if the proposal is awarded.
