Per Florida Department of Education Common Course Numbering Guidelines, Undergraduate programs must consist of courses at the 1000 to 4000 levels. Courses designated 1XXX and 2XXX are considered lower division; those designated 3XXX and 4XXX are considered upper division.

Specific programs may permit 5000 level courses as electives in consultation with an advisor. Courses taken for an undergraduate degree cannot be applied to a graduate degree. Undergraduate courses must not have 5000 level courses as required courses.

To state University policy concerning course levels for the undergraduate programs.

All curriculum requests must be approved by the appropriate authorities.
