POLICY STATEMENT

Florida International University (FIU) is committed to ensuring equal access to educational and employment opportunities for qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act of 2008, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Florida Education Equity Act, as well as other applicable laws and University policy. Under the ADA, qualified individuals with disabilities are protected from discrimination and may be entitled to reasonable accommodations and/or equal access to programs and services.

Confidentiality
The University will keep all information obtained under this Policy confidential and separate from an employee’s personnel file. All medical documentation will be shared only with those involved in the accommodation process, those with a need to know, or when required by law.

Retaliation Prohibited
Retaliation is expressly prohibited by this Policy, and the University will take immediate and responsive action to any report of retaliation. No University employee shall retaliate against any person because they initiated or were involved in this process. Any attempt to penalize anyone involved in the process through any form of retaliation shall be treated as a separate allegation of discrimination and covered by FIU Regulation 106: Nondiscrimination, Harassment and Retaliation (Title VII).

SCOPE

FIU has a long-standing policy of employing qualified individuals with disabilities in a broad range of positions across the institution. On occasion, the nature of an individual’s disability may make them eligible to receive an accommodation. The Office of Civil Rights Compliance and Accessibility (CRCA) is committed to providing reasonable accommodations, upon request, to qualified individuals with disabilities to ensure equal access to employment opportunities, programs, and services.

In addition to providing workplace access, CRCA provides disability-related access information and resources to employment candidates and visitors.
This Policy is applicable to all employees, employment candidates, and visitors to the University’s campus, events, programs, and activities.

Students may obtain disability-related academic and housing accommodations through the assistance of the Disability Resource Center.

FIU Regulation 106: Nondiscrimination, Harassment and Retaliation (Title VII) prohibits discrimination and harassment based on disability (among other bases) and outlines the process of how the University responds to and investigates such allegations. Failing to provide a reasonable accommodation to a qualified individual with a disability may constitute discrimination based on disability, which is a violation of FIU Regulation 106.

REASON FOR POLICY

FIU is committed to ensuring an inclusive and equitable environment for its community members and visitors, where programs and services are accessible to everyone, regardless of ability. FIU has created this Policy to ensure the University provides equal access to its educational programs, employment opportunities, events, and activities. This Policy outlines the process by which employees, employment candidates, and visitors can request reasonable accommodations.

Reasonable Accommodation

An accommodation is any change, modification, or adjustment which enables an individual with a disability to enjoy equal employment opportunity or access to University events, programs, and activities.

Please note that what constitutes a reasonable accommodation is determined by the specific facts of each request and will be determined on a case-by-case basis.

Undue Hardship

Undue hardship refers not only to financial difficulty, but to reasonable accommodations that are unduly extensive, substantial, disruptive, or those that would fundamentally alter the nature or operation of the business. Undue hardship must be based on an individualized assessment of current circumstances that show a specific reasonable accommodation would cause significant burden or expense to the University. The University does not have to provide a reasonable accommodation that would cause and undue hardship.

FIU Regulation 106: Nondiscrimination, Harassment and Retaliation (Title VII) prohibits discrimination and harassment based on disability (among other bases) and outlines the process of how the University responds to and investigates such allegations. PROCEDURE STATEMENT

Step One – Submitting a Request
Employees, employment candidates, and visitors seeking an accommodation are responsible for initiating the request and should direct their request to CRCA. Visitors are strongly encouraged to plan ahead and submit a request an accommodation at the earliest possible opportunity (i.e., upon registering for or planning to attend an event, program, or activity).

Employees and employment candidates seeking to request an accommodation must submit the following forms along with supporting documentation to ocrca@fiu.edu:

a) Employee Accommodation Request Form (Must be completed by the Employee.)

b) Physician Verification of Accommodation Form (The employee’s approved job description must be submitted to be reviewed and completed by the treating physician or health care provider. The approved job description can be requested by the Employee through CRCA.) The Verification will not be requested if the disability is obvious.

The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will notify in writing the Supervisor and HR Liaison that the Employee has submitted a request for a Reasonable Accommodation.

Individuals seeking to request an accommodation for a University event, program, or activity offered to the public must complete the Public Event Accommodation form and submit the completed request to ocrca@fiu.edu.

Step Two – Discussion
Once the Employee Accommodation Request Form and Physician Letter have been received, the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will review the file and meet with (at a minimum) the employee and their supervisor to discuss the request, the needs of the department, and begin to identify reasonable accommodations that may be effective.

The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator may request the following documents should additional information be needed from the health care provider. In such instances, employees or employment candidates must submit the following additional forms to ocrca@fiu.edu:

c) Release of Information Form (Must be completed by the Employee.)
d) Physician Letter (Must be completed by the Employee.)
If an individual is seeking to request an accommodation for a University event, program, or activity offered to the public, the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will review the file and meet with (at a minimum) the individual requesting the accommodation and the event or program coordinator to discuss the request and begin to identify reasonable accommodations that may be effective.

Step Three - Documenting the Disability
The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator evaluating the requested accommodation will determine what type of other documentation (if any) is necessary to verify the disability. This may vary depending on the nature and extent of the disability and the accommodation requested. It is the responsibility of the person seeking an accommodation to provide the requested documentation relating to their disability. If the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator determines that the person does not meet the definition of a qualified individual with a disability, the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will advise the person in writing and the process ends at this step. If the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator determines that the person is a qualified individual with a disability, the ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will continue the interactive process.

Step Four - Evaluation
In the case of Employees, reasonable accommodations are determined following an individualized assessment of a request and interactive process with the employee, supervisor, and health care provider as necessary. The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will consider the needs and requests for a reasonable accommodation and will consider the following factors, including but not limited to:

a) The nature of the employee's physical or mental condition, and how it affects their needs in the workplace setting.

b) Whether the employee's physical or mental condition limits one or more major life activities.

c) Whether the requested accommodation would enable the employee to perform the essential job functions effectively.

d) Whether the requested accommodation would alter or remove an essential function of the job.

e) The impact that the requested accommodation or modification has or may have on the department or unit.

Depending on the facts and circumstances of the request, reasonable accommodations for Employees may include the following, which is not and exhaustive list:

a) making existing facilities accessible;

b) job restructuring;

c) part-time or modified work schedules;

d) acquiring or modifying equipment;

e) changing tests, training materials, or policies;

f) providing qualified readers or interpreters; and

g) reassignment to a vacant position.
In the case of individuals seeking to request an accommodation for a University event, program, or activity offered to the public, reasonable accommodations are determined following an individualized assessment of the request and interactive process. The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator will consider the needs and requests for reasonable accommodations and will consider the following factors, including but not limited to:

a) The nature of the individual’s physical or mental condition, and how it affects their ability to participate in the event.
b) Whether the individual’s physical or mental condition limits one or more major life activities.
c) Whether the requested accommodation would enable the individual to fully participate in the event.
d) The impact that the requested accommodation or modification have on the event, program, or activity.

If more than one reasonable accommodation is effective, the preference of the qualified individual with a disability should be given primary consideration. However, the University has the ultimate discretion to choose between effective accommodations. The University is not required to provide any accommodation that would constitute an undue hardship.

Step Five - Notification

The ADA and Accessibility Coordinator evaluating the request for an accommodation shall provide the individual seeking an accommodation with written notification of the determination.

If the individual seeking an accommodation is an Employee, the Employee’s supervisor and HR Liaison will be copied on the written notification.

If the individual seeking an accommodation is a Visitor, the manager of the event, program, or activity that the Visitor is attending will be copied on the written notification.
